

Flying Mike

By: Ethan

There was once a kid names Mike, who loves birds. He always wanted to be a bird with big eyes, small wings, and a red beak. Mike asked God every single day to turn into a bird or to make him into his dream bird. One year later he asked God one last time to turn him into a bird. When Mike woke up he was disappointed he was not a bird. Hours later he went to play basketball with his friends. When he jumped up to block his friend's shot he started to fly. You must have patience for dreams to come true.
