Once there was a little girl name Jasmine. Jasmine was a dreamer, realistic, energetic, self-determine, motivated young girl that had a lot of Big Dreams. Her Dreams kept her going, but sometimes she would get very sad due to the area where she lived. Jasmine lived in a small poverty stricken town name Miller Indiana. The town population was less than 2000 so everyone knew everyone. This town was a town that people believed you're to dream could never become real. But Jasmine didn't let what people thought stop her from dreaming.

Jasmine dreamed of a lot of things but her number one dream was to become a professional ballerina and she also wanted to be a doctor so she could help her nana when she got sick. Every morning she would wake up and pray: Dear Heavenly Father, this is your doctor ballerina Jasmine talking to you again, I know you love me and my family and I know you hear my prayers so I am asking again please bless my dad, nana, mother, sisters and brother. Please bless my dad with a better job and please bless me to become a professional ballerina and doctor. Love and thank you because I know you are working on it, in Jesus Name. This was her morning prayer every day she would wake up for so many years.

Jasmine was so determine to reach her dreams she would study day and night, she went to library and got all the books she thought she would need to study to become a doctor and she also got video tapes of how to become a ballerina. She went to the local goodwill and found some ballerina shoes along with a Toto; she knew when she found her ballerina shoes and her Toto it was destine that she would become a professional ballerina.

Jasmine being a self-determine person she taught herself how to dance though the videos she got from the library. She loved to dance. She said when she dance she felt like she was free from all negative thoughts, she felt so light like a feather when dancing. She made her on studio in her house. And she also started dancing at the boy and girl club. She felt so confident in her dancing that she begins competing in competitions. Jasmine first competition she was very nervous, because she was competing with girls that were trained by professional dancers and girls that had the best of best outfits. But Jasmine remembered for many years she would prayed the same prayer every morning. Lord I want to be a professional ballerina. When Jasmine started dancing she lit up the place. She leaped and jumped all over the place light a feather in the sky. Jasmine won First Place in the competition. Everyone wanted to know what dance studio she attended. She laughed and said I learned how to dance by myself and my studio is my self-made studio at my house. The people could not believe what she was saying. Jasmine went on to Dance for the USA Olympics teams and she became the doctor that she dreams of becoming. Despite the obstacle Jasmine was faced with her live out her dreams.
