

The Girl With Big Dreams

Once upon a time, there was a slave. Her name was Charlotte and she was 13 years old. Her owner was very mean and frightening, and he had a heart full of stone. Even though she was mistreated, she wanted more than anything to help the homeless. She wanted to provide them with blankets, food and shelter. One day, there was another owner who was kind and who didn't have any children of her own. Her name was Scarlett. Her heart was full of kindness, so she talked Charlottes owner into letting her buy Charlotte. He agreed and so Scarlett took Charlotte to her home, where she treated her like a Princess. One day her and Charlotte were talking and Charlotte told her about her dreams of helping the homeless. This made Scarlett happy, so one day they went into town and they bought blankets, fruit, vegetables and other food. They fed and bathed the homeless and built houses for them all. This made everyones dreams come true and from then on they have all had a happy life.

By: Olivia R.