

“A Girl with a Dream” by Brianna C.

Once long ago there was a 10 year old girl. She had no family. It all started in the sky on a good day, bright and sunny. God said to an angel, “May you please send this baby girl to a woman named Fernunda Ortiz.” The angel said, “Yes.”

So the angel went flying and said to himself, “I want to be more powerful than God.” Then he became evil and got evil powers and said, “Finally I have super powers, but evil ones. I am leaving you baby girl to start an evil life!” And he laughed an evil laugh and flew away, dropping the baby girl to earth.

Quickly God felt something in his heart, and saw the baby girl falling into the grass. So God got her and left her peacefully in the grass.

Then a man saw the baby girl in the grass and said, “Oh my goodness! This baby is lonely! She needs help!” Then the man picked her up from the grass and took her to his house. But the next night, the man went outside with the baby and God came to him. “Leave the baby with me,” God said. The man did it, and God granted his wish.

So God gave the woman the baby girl and God told the woman everything that had happened to her baby. And the man who found the baby? His wish was to find a wife and have children. He became the Fernunda’s husband, and the baby girl became his daughter. The baby girl finally found her family and lived happily ever after.
