KeKe walked out into the hallway, started to cry another teacher came out of her class, and said 'why are you crying'. The girl explained but it wasn't too long until Mrs. Nancy came out into the hallway and started to talk over KeKe. KeKe started to cry so loud that the principal walking in the hallway heard the noise. She asked what happened she explained and time Mrs. Nancy didn't say a word. Then the principal invited her over to her office. They talked OK sweetheart it's time for your lunch KeKe walked back to class the teacher yelled at her saying why are you back she said she finally had enough of it and she said 'I'm tired of you treating me very rudely!!!! I'm so so sorry said Mrs. Nancy. KeKe rolled her eyes walked out of the classroom and slammed the door as hard as she could she slammed it so hard that the teachers in the other hallway heard. Mrs. Nancy ran out of the classroom and she apologized. KeKe said it was Ok, and that is how they never disobeyed each other again.
