

The Day Frost Got Friends

It was a sunny summer Friday afternoon. Frost was moving from Texas to Georgia. Everyone was excited, everyone except for Frost.

Frost really wasn't happy. If she moved, she would lose her cool house, school, and friends! "Can I stay here, please?" Frost asked. "Unless you want to stay here forever, taking care of yourself forever, then no," Frost's mom said. As soon as Frost's mom finished packing up Frost's last box in her bedroom, Frost heard a scratch on her bedroom door. "Sprinkle!" Frost shouted. Sprinkle was Frost's baby puppy. "you don't want to leave the house, do you?" Frost asked Sprinkle. She was only asking her because Sprinkle was Frost's only friend. But Sprinkle just barked. Frost mad a mad face. She didn't want to move! But there was nothing she could do...

When she got to the car, she waved goodbye to her house. She was ready to leave her house. When she got to her new house, she didn't feel as happy like when she was at her old house. She felt different, but she didn't know why...

"Wow, I feel so different, new house, new school, and new friends!" Frost thought to herself. "maybe I'll figure it out inside...."

When the sun started setting, Frost started getting ready for bedtime.

Tomorrow is school, all! She closed her eyes and thought about her new school.

"What will those students think of me?"

She wondered. "Will they bully me?"

What if they ignore me, or tease me?

Or maybe even hurt me?" She asked herself. Frost stopped thinking about it and slept on it. "We'll see tomorrow...." She thought.

The next day, Frost woke up with her dog Sprinkles all over her licking Frost's face everywhere as if Sprinkles was hired to be Frost's cute new alarm clock! "Hi Sprinkles! How are you doing? Today is a new day, so let's make the best of it," Frost thought to herself. She jumped out of bed and went downstairs for breakfast. When Frost got downstairs, her mom had already prepared breakfast for Frost. It was Frost's favorite- bacon & eggs with strawberries on the side and orange juice for the drink. "How was your sleep?" Asked Frost's mom. "It was really nice, actually! Suprisingly, it was comfy!" Frost said, smiling.

When Frost got to school, no one looked at her. No one even sat by her at lunch, or played with her at recess! When it was partner work, no one wanted to team up with her, so she had to sit out all day long. She was all alone all day with no one to talk to, work with, or play with! She didn't think this would happen, and she didn't know why it happened! She held back her tears as she walked in the pouring rain. As she walked in the rain, she called her mom and told her what happened. "I'm so sorry for you!" Frost's mom said. "It's nothing, I'll just ignore it," Frost said as her voice started cracking.

Second day, nothing. Third day, nothing. You can probably guess what happened for the fourth day... STILL NO FRIENDS!!!!!!!!!! "It's no use, I'll never make any friends at all this year!" Frost cried as she put on her coat. But then suddenly, something happened. This was a miracle to Frost. A student finally noticed her. That student told all his friends. Everyone wanted to be her friend. "Hi, I'm Sami, and this is my sis Abby." "Nice to meet you, I-" "Hello, I'm Ray, and this is my cousin Yam Yam." Frost was happy, she made so many new friends, and that was all she wanted.

She saw that boy, and thought he was kinda cute. The next day, she heard the doorbell ring, and it was that boy, holding flowers for her.
