One day inside the computer, there were 5 stickmen their names were blue, red, yellow, green, and orange. When orange wakes up then he goes and wakes up the others. Orange said hey I saw our owner install 3 new videogames. Then they got out of their game and saw the new videogames they were candy crush, Kick the Buddy, and Fortnite. Green said lets go to the candy one first because I am hungry. Then the rest of the stickmen said ok. They got in the game and they saw the exit but they have to pass one level first green and yellow made a score then red and blue but they dint find more but orange did the last score then they got out. Then they enter kick the buddy and fight with him they put him tramps but then they got in the box and buddy take revenge but then they broke the box and exit the game. Finally, they wanted to go in Fortnite then they kill blue, yellow, and later red so the only survivors were green and orange then green had something red in his body and Green said, Orange I am bleeding help! Help! I need a Band-Aid or something. Then orange said you're gonna be ok just resist. Then Green said wait a minute? This is ketchup!!!. They both laughed. But, he really was shot and Green really died. Then Orange saw the last player. He build and build and when Orange was gonna give the lost shot Orange said stickmen forever. Which revived his friends.

Then they left the game and went back at their videogame and Orange said I wish the next adventure will begin soon.
