

Jay P.

Jake the Great is the New Kid

Hi I'm Jake the great well at least that's what my mom calls me. Today is my first day at my new school and I don't like being the new kid because my old friend John said that I would get bullied. Wait I need to close my journal my teacher's coming...Ok I'm back. Today is pajama day and so far no one has picked on me later that day. Ding! Ding! The bell rang, you know what that means, recess!! I am so excited. Oops sorry did you just bump into me? I said sorry. Wait are you the new kid. Um yes please don't hurt me. Guys this is the new kid I was telling you about. What do you mean your Jake the great John told me all about you he said y'all used to be best friends. Wait you know who John is. Yah hes my little brother then why do y'all not live together because my mom and dad got devosed. Then why don't you live with your mother because I decided to live with my dad. Later later that day. Well I guess John was lying I didn't get bullied instead I made a new friend. The end until later.