It was the last day of school. Harold was waiting for his results. He went home with news he told his mom that he didn't pass second grade. So he had to go to summer school. The first day he was disappointed in himself so he worked so hard so the first test he took he got one hundred. Harold made a lot of friends by the year went by. Harold's mom said he will pass second grade. So it was the test Harold needed to do. The test was over he got his paper and it said one hundred. Harold was so happy!!! He went home with grate news. He told his mom he had passed second grade now Harold was going to third grade.
