Once there was a girl that wanted a unicorn. She had heard that unicorns where found only in The Candy Forest. Since she really wanted a unicorn, she went on her way. First, she went through The River of Torture which had little steppingstones that disappeared if you stood there too long, so she had to think fast. She went to the right first then the left. It was a pattern. Right, left, right. She was getting the hang of it. She was over the river in no time. Next was The Mystical Mountain which was a rock wall on one side and a slide on the other. Since she was not good at climbing rock walls without a harness, she was terrified. But she was going to do it for a unicorn. She took careful steps and in a couple minutes she had made it to the top. She did not dare to look down because she feared she would probably faint. From the top of the mountain she could see The Candy Forest straight ahead. She kept on walking till she reached The Candy Forest and she was amazed. There was a candy cane gate at the entrance. The rocks where peppermints and trees where cotton candy. It was like a whole other planet. So, she found a rock and she put all the candy from her bag on the rock and waited. It only took a few minutes until a unicorn appeared. The girl quickly grabbed her pet amulet and captured the unicorn inside it. With the pet amulet safely in her hand she began to retrace her steps. Back at home, she noticed that it was almost dark so she put the pet amulet under her pillow and went to sleep. Her dreams where filled with all the adventures she and her unicorn would have together.
