

The Christmas Miracle
Ezana T.

It has been ten years since Jack seen his parents, and Jack was already ten. Jack spent ten years in the orphanage. Jack was getting interviewed today but Jack always declines and says, "It can wait." No one knew that he says that, but an eight year old boy named Quint was being moved to Jack's orphanage. Jack always thought new kids coming to the orphanage were going to be friends with Jack. Everyone new does not want to be Jack's friend. Jack had to go the interview today because one of the nuns forced him. So Jack went to the interview. On the way to the interview, Jack saw a little boy crying in the hallway. Jack wanted to say something to the little boy but he needed to go to the interview. So, Jack went. Jack was standing in a small room with a nun, and two people in it. The nun said, "Jack is capable of doing anything you want." Jack thought that was a lie and he can't. Then, the nun said to Jack, "Meet the Garretts." Jack thought that was weird because that was his name, too. "Nice to meet you Mr. and Mrs. Garrett" said Jack. After that the Garretts said, "Nice to meet you, too." Mr. and Mrs. Garrett looked at each other strangely. "What's wrong?" asked Jack. Before Jack could say something, Mrs. Garrett said, "What's your last name?" Jack said, "Garrett." Mr. Garrett said, "You're our son." "Hmmm." Said Jack, "How do I know you're not lying?" Mr. and Mrs. Garrett said, "You were born in 2008 on December 25th." Jack thought in his head that it was true. Jack said, "OK. I believe you guys." The nun said, "You can get your things." Jack went running to his room. He yelled, "Ahhhh." A nun came running to Jack's room and said, "What's wrong?" Jack asked, "What is he doing here?" The nun said, "Oh sorry. This is your roommate, Quint." "But I am leaving," said Jack. "Wait. Are the people you're leaving with the Garretts?" asked Quint. "Yeah." said Jack. "I know because they are my parents." Said Quint. "You're lying," said Jack. "Wait, you're my brother!" Quint said. "Stop lying again," said Jack. "I have proof. You're birthday is tomorrow." "You're my brother!" Jack said. "Then, pack up your things and let's go!" After an hour, they both met at the front of the orphanage. Mr. and Mrs. Garrett were waiting for Jack. Mrs. Garrett asked, "Who is this?" "This is quint your other son." Jack said. "Is that you, Quint?" asked Mrs. Garrett. "Yes, it is me." said Quint. Jack said, " Let's go." Finally the Garretts got in their car and went to their home. The end.