

The Poor Boy

by Alaina H.

There was a boy who was nine years old and his birthday came and he was ten. He wanted to go out to eat with his mom and dad but when they were driving, him and his mom and dad got into a car crash... and his parents died. He called 911 and he was alone. A couple years later he was 19 and he got fired at his job, and every other job didn't want him. So he became poor. He had seen a girl and he liked her, so he asked if they could go out to dinner and she said, "yes." She said, "do you want to be together?" and he said, yes. So they were together and had three kids, and were a happy family.
