

Jane's New School

Written by and illustrated by Mairilyn

Jane was going to a new school. She wasn't so sure about it, although her parents knew she would be fine.

The next day Jane walked to her new school. Jane's new school looked super big and looked like it was packed with a lot of kids that would laugh at her. She was very nervous and she didn't know what the other kids would think about her or what they would say about her. She was afraid to find out what was about to happen.

When Jane walked into her new school no one seemed to like her at all! She still wasn't so sure about going to a new school like this.

Jane got to her classroom, her teacher introduced herself. They called her Mrs. Stacey. Mrs. Stacey was very polite to Jane. But she still had no friends and all the other kids have been teasing her.

But one day, Jane went to school. Everything was still the same until a girl Jane had never seen before, walked up to Jane and asked, "Would you be my friend?"

Jane noticed the girl wanted to be nice and have a friend and Jane wanted a friend.

Jane said YES in a very proud way! Jane's new best friend was named Lilly and they became the best of friends in the whole entire school.

I'm glad we are friends!
