

Only One Friend by Amna

Once upon a time there was a girl named Nini and she had lots of friends.

One day Nini got rainbow cookies which looked very yummy and delicious. All the girls looked at her cookies, but she doesn't want to share. All of her friends looked at the cookies and asked Nini, "Can I have one?" But Nini said, "No."

All of the girls were sad and didn't want to continue their friendship with Nini anymore.

After a few more days, there was a new girl named Amna. She was so nice and smart and she had lots of friends.

She got cookies one day and she did share with her friends. Amna makes new friends but Nini lost all of her friends.

One day Nini was crying because she felt all alone and no one liked her anymore. "Oh Nini, what happened?" Amna asked.

Then Amna said very nicely, "Look Nini, you have lots of cookies now but you have no friends." "You can buy cookies again, but you can't buy any friends." Amna continued, "If you share your cookies, you can get more cookies, because there are lots of cookies, but there is only one friend."

So the next day at school, she brought cookies to share to say she was sorry but also "thank you" to Amna who helped teach her a mistake. Then they ate the cookies.
