

The Magic Ninja written by Duran H.

Hey my name is alex and I'm a boy I'm imaginary is less that's what people say I have an cool cool story to tell about a ninja do you have any idea how cool this ninja is man this ninja is so cool that he can do push ups with one pinky, he can also do backflips off the wall, he can through smoke booms that makes him disappear in thin air, he can also balance on thin sticks and he can also run up side down on to the roof that's really cool right I wish I was just like them. Ninjas are the most common thing in the History. The reason why I say that is because nobody can do the thing that ninjas can do man I really wish I was just like them they also can do thing gross bla right the grossest thing they can do is catch flies and eat them and they can also eat rotten food without a drink so gross. Uh oh the biggest bully in the School every one's scared of him he thinks he can do what ever he want but I say he can't do what ever he wants because If the principal sees him being bad then she's going to call his mom and then he's going to start crying like a little baby and then I'm going to just laugh and then not care oops here he comes hey get up out of this sit he said and then I said this is not your sit and then he punched me and then the principal was sitting there and caught him I started to laugh and then the second thought It wasn't funny any more because he came back to the class room crying I felt my head and said that not funny any more at all so I over to talk to him I felt sad and tried and cheer him up but I guess he didn't want to be cheered up yeah I guess I needed to cheer him up a little bit but he said leave me alone I said okay okay man two weeks later a ninja party and guess what I I ...I.I. was invited can you believe that I was invited wow wow I'm really invited wow that is 100 percent awesome really awesome.

Sincerely Duran

The End