

A Famous Girl

by: Kimberly E.

There once was a girl named Nancy. She was only 15 years old, but she had a problem. Her problem was that she loved to read but she had run out of books. And the library near her house had closed down. She was extremely sad. But one day at school, she had an idea. She walked home quickly and went straight to her room.

Then, she took out a book and looked at it. It was blank inside. The pages seemed to be inviting her to write something on them. Nancy started writing and writing. Her words became sentences and sentences became chapters. Soon Nancy was writing her own books. She wrote books about horror, fiction, nonfiction, poetry whenever she wanted to. She would spend hours and hours writing books.

Finally, she started publishing her own books and guess what, she became a famous girl in town. She was like a hero because there were so few books in the town. Nancy started getting paid a lot of money for her stories. She was paid so much that she could buy whatever she wanted or go wherever she wanted. But she didn't go anywhere. She spent all of her time writing books because that was what she enjoyed most.
