

The Meaning

Alondra M.

It was an early morning Sarah woke up and she was depressed. At school, they made fun of her. Her mom did not care about her. Sarah was afraid of school she was afraid of all the kids

Sarah felt lonely she felt bad and hurt. Then one day she looked in the mirror and said, "Why don't people like me?" then she looked again and said, "Nothing is wrong with me, I am normal." Sarah hurried to the bus stop she didn't want to be late to school.

One day Sarah felt confident and good. Sarah stared in the mirror for a very long time. She said, "When I look in the mirror and see myself, I see a strong, and beautiful girl". Later, that week, Sarah was having a tough day at school and she started to feel frustrated. She came home from school and said, "am I worth it?"

Sarah was so sad so, she started to think about her grandma and how she would always make her feel better, her grandma was loving and caring. Sarah's grandma had passed away a long time ago. After thinking about what her grandma would say Sarah started to feel strong and confident. The next day she went to school and people made fun of her, but guess what, she stood up for herself and said "STOP! What did I ever do to you? Stop picking on me!" Sarah never had to worry about anybody picking on her ever again.
