The day has started

Miley thought to herself her day had started when Anabelle said today we are not just having any breakfast we are going to have Miley's favorite pancakes made by me myself and I. Roget said let's start with simple presents and later you will get the best one yet. Miley couldn't help herself but she had to wait. First Miley got a hover board. This one is already the best one to me and there's going to be a better one she said to herself. Second Miley got a 100 dollar credit card for Starbucks. She jumped up and down of happiness. Last but not least Miley got a coloring book. Now I have something to entertain myself when I am bored in any place! Mom Dad thank you so so so so much. I don't think any parent would go this far on a birthday. Dad had one more present that came from his mouth, 'I love you, Miley to the moon and back infinity times.' Dad I love you too said Miley.

THE BIG SURPRISE

'Well chop, chop clean up and get into my car', said Andrew.

'Why?' said Miley. Because it's your surprise what you planned it how awesome of you Andrew! Miley slept all the way then covered her eyes with a pink bandana. They took it off and she screamed to loud of how glad she was. Good thing you didn't get in trouble for screaming said Andrew. Miley did not say a word for how surprised she was that she finally got to go to the aquarium. The first thing she did was ask for a notebook at the aquarium store to take notes during the best moments of her life in the aquarium. After the aquarium Jonathan bought Miley a picture frame to put her picture to remember this very own moment.
