

My Summer Vacation

Kiara L.

I always go to El Paso, Texas for the summer. This summer that I was there, I had so much fun! I had to speak English and Spanish so my grandma could understand. My brother was excited too because my grandpa told him that they would go fishing together. Another thing I was excited about during my vacation was that my grandparents got a new kitten that they named Blue Eyes. The name comes just as it spells is because of its blue eyes. Blue Eyes is also white and has some light brown spots. Along with Blue Eyes, my grandparents also have two dogs, which I love. Their names are Max and Rasia. Max is a boxer with light brown short hair and a little tail. Rasia is a white feisty chihuahua.

One thing that I really enjoyed about my vacation was the gift I got from my grandpa. One day, him and my brother went to Cielo Vista mall and brought me a nice surprise. They brought me new shoes and a new backpack for school. They struggled to pick the colors but at the end it was a zebra print backpack, which I loved. Another awesome thing that happened was when one day my uncle from Chihuahua called and said that he was in Juarez visiting. Juarez is the city across the border with El Paso, on the Mexican side. My uncle was visiting and he was going to return to Chihuahua soon. He invited us and my mom and grandma decided we should go as well. So my mom, grandma, brother and I ended up going to Chihuahua. My grandpa could not make because he had to work. So we went on the road, and it took us 4 hours to get there. The best part was that only a few of our family knew that we were going. So we decided to play a surprise on them. So one of the nights we went to one of my cousin's house and yelled out his name. My aunt went up to the window and asked "Who is this?", we replied, "We need to see your son." Nervous as she came outside to check who was asking for her son, she switched her mood when she saw us and became really happy. She said, "Come on in." So we went in and all the grownups started to talk. As for my brother and me, we started playing with my cousin. A while later, there was another knock at the door. It was another aunt with her son and her mom. They were also so happy to see us. Most of my family that lives in Chihuahua was there now. We ended up spending the night there and ate crepes in the morning. We also ate eggs and drank milk for breakfast. Later that day, we went to go get ice cream and play at a nearby park with some more cousins. Throughout the last few days of our stay in Chihuahua we just stayed at the house and relaxed. Then it was time to leave, and tears fell all over the place.

Finally, towards the end of my summer vacation we spent some more time in El Paso, Texas at my grandpa's house. Our time there was incredible since he would buy us donuts, cookies, chips, and all sorts of goodies, and we loved it. But after just a few days there, it was time to back home to Marion, Arkansas. We were really sad. I was really sad. My mom said that we would be back for Christmas. So we departed and returned home safely. And that was the end of my awesome summer vacation.
