By : Laila T.

Date : April 20, 2016

There was a little boy who lost his parents. His name was Zack and he was 15 years old. One night, Zack was in a wooded swamp-like field and was bitten by a vampire. After Zack suffered the almost fatal bite, he too became a vampire. The very next day, when he stared into his bathroom window, Zack noticed that he too had fangs as well as an entire costume of black clothes; even a new hairstyle. With this change, Zack had so much to learn about his new identity. For example, one day, Zack found out he could not go outside or the cutting heat rays from the sun would seriously hurt him. Zack did not know how to be a vampire. He knew life was changed forever. As a result this confusing and embarrassing life change, he had not seen his friends for a while for fear that the vampire living inside him might infect and hurt some innocent person. Since he wasn't a quitter and didn't plan to change now, Zack was determined that he was going to fix things so that he was in control of the monster inside. For starters, he discovered a secret weapon: he put on a special sunscreen, no a magical sunscreen, and walked outside. He found his best friend named Sam. He told Sam that he was a vampire. Did Sam believe it? No. So Zack showed him his fangs, and Sam asked if he could be bitten. Zack said, "Yes!"

Zack bit Sam and took him to his field. From then on, they lived in vampire world.

PART 2 OF 2

Zack and Sam lived in the vampire mansion together. But one day a spell caster came and, using her sneaky trickery, she turned Jack and Sam into evil vampires. Now being on the evil side of the vampire world – not by choice by the way – they decided to stay secluded inside their fully stocked mansion versus being around regular people and possibly infecting bystanders. They did invite all other known vampires to the mansion.

Ever since then, no one has ever seen a vampire outside of the infamous evil vampire mansion. Rumor has it that, to this day, they all stayed in vampire world.
