Once upon a time in a Math class was a ten-year-old girl named Amy Michelle Castaneda and she had a crush on a boy named Nick Benson. "Oh Nick is so cute. I wonder if he likes me?" muttered Amy. "Amy" said Mr. Copper "Answer the equation. Nine plus blank is ten. What does blank stand for? Amy answer the equation," angrily yelled Mr. Copper "Oh, "Amy sounded surprise. "Dingggggggggg dingggggggggggggg." The bell rang. "That is a call home Ms. Courtland." "Yes sir." Amy said sadden.

In Amy's head she was always thinking about Nick, because Valentine's Day was coming and they were having a school dance and she wanted to go with Nick. Over time she could get so close to Nick and then she gets scared and ran away but this time it was different because Nick approached Amy and asked her a question. "Amy Castaneda will you be my girlfriend?" She answered with a kiss and replied "yes." Then they went to the dance as a joyful couple and lived happily ever after.
