

A Mystery

By: Reina H.

"Help! Please help!" "Candy do you hear that!" Earlier that night a happy couple was about to come to end... "Honey let's go!" "One minute." "I'll wait on the couch ok." But she did not answer. "Honey?" "I'm coming up" "NO!" Someone said in a familiar voice. "Who's up there with my girlfriend" "Don't come up here!" It was a voice that he was familiar to him. "Victor is that you?" Victor was his brother that was taken away when he was because his brother was syco. "If you are here come down the stairs" Andy that was his name, Andy heard the restroom window slam shut. He ran outside and saw a black figure and his girlfriend well that's what he thought but it was very dark and kind of blurry, it was weird. Andy had no choice to call the police he did not want to because that was maybe his brother and family is important, But Andy called someone else... RING RING "Candy are you there." "No this is a voice mail." A robot voice said. "Just kidding I'm here" Another robot voice said "This is a voice mail for 210....." "Ugh I hate her trick voice mail." He hung up and wait because the person he was calling always answered back his calls. RING RING "hello?" "Hey it's me" a girl said. "Candy?" He said " yeah what do you need." "Well first off I think that Vitor escaped." Candy stopped talking. "I think he is looking through my window ." "What he's there." "I think so." Andy got in his car and drove to Candy's house. When he got there he stepped out of the car and heard rustling through the bushes like if a person was stalking Candy. "Who's there ." He said frighteningly. He creaked open the door of Candy's house. He was surprised that her door was open and he was kind of scared that her door was open because why would her door would be open when there is a syco running around! "Candy are you here?" The basement door pushed open it was opened so fast that it hit every thing hta was in the way of it's path. A note fell swishing in the air like a bird and gently hit the ground. It said this note is from Candy if you are reading this that means that someone has escaped the hospital and I had to hide if you want to know where I am just go to the park there is a secret gate that opens to my panic room. But Andy knew that it was a fake note to where she was that was for Vitor because when they were kids they said if anyone escaped the first thing they would do was always first make a fake note to who ever had escaped. But of course he also knew where she was.... in the bathroom because that is where she goes when she does not fill safe that is where they both hide. Andy opened the bathroom door and saw Candy. "Hey we need to find my girl friend come on let's go!" You can tell that she was not feeling brave when Andy opened the door she kind of jumped. They both walked outside trying to act brave but truly inside they are scared to the core. Andy drove to the park because there was a little shack and he just felt that his girlfriend was there. They walk through the bushes, every step you can hear the leaves scream. Then Candy found this very creepy shed that Andy was talking about. "HELP HELP

HELP ME PLEASE!" Andy do you hear that it's sounds like your girlfriend lets go come on." She grabbed his hand and tugged until they got in the back of the shed. They heard her but this time it sounded like she was mumbling the words now they think someone taped her mouth that meant that someone was close. They both were very frighten but they did not show it they were standing tall ready to fight, just in case of course. Andy had a weird feeling in his stomach. They heard more footsteps behind them..... When they turned around they both jumped like it was a clown but it was just a bunny. Candy tried not to say awww but she had no choice so she "awww." "shhh." " Do you hear that?" "No I don...." " shhhhh!" "Why do you get to talk" she yelled! They saw this human like figure that got close and closer

You can hear it crunching the leaves that were under it, it was very creepy! They walked into the front of they shed they saw her, but she did not look happy her eyes looked like they were pointing to something but they did not look until they heard they heavy breathing, and smelled the bad breath. they turned slowly until they saw it..... It had them all where it want all of them, to get them, to eat them. It snatched them all! It turned out it was not Victor all it was this weird looking deformed creature not even close to a human at all. They never were found again but they all were still alive at least they were together. All of their family knew they were still alive they just felt it. They all searched for years they were still never found. Andy, Candy, and andy's girlfriend grew old together and the thing that took them just watched them suffer every single day until eventually they past.....

(the shed that they are in till this day)

,