

Love and Hate

Love

Love a mysterious thing. Most people think that Love is having feelings for someone, but what are those feelings? Some of them are love, anger, sadness, trust, and many more. “How do you know this?” you may ask. Well, I know because I am Love. Right now I am present at a wedding, which means I am giving two people Love for each other. These people love and trust each other. Someone’s trust is a delicate thing too though. If you break someone’s trust you leave a scar on their heart. Never break someone’s trust because then hate will join the scene.

Hate

Sure love is an emotion, but I, Hate am the strongest, most evil emotion of all! I am divorcing some people that Love just couldn’t keep together. After this I have some friends to split into different classes. Never let Love get into your life. It will ruin everything! Just come to the depressed, angry side with me. You have to fail to succeed. Except with me, there is no success, just broken dreams. Pain is my best friend! Everyone sees him in life! You also see me! HATE IS COOL LOVE IS DUMB!

War

“Love is most certainly not dumb” Love says fiercely. “Love is most certainly not dumb!” mocks Hate. “Of course it is!” Hate roars. “Love brings people together, that’s what counts!” Love cries. “Love and Hate’s war may never end but Love will always be stronger.”

Riley V.

3rd grade